Third Man Eludes Big Crowds Of 'Detectives'

By The Third Man
I was still at large Monday noon after changing my location to give more people a chance.

This morning I was between the Capitol theatre and asking the question: "Are You The Third Man?"

I may be anywhere, on either side of the street, and I'll be doing my best not to get caught by anyone carrying a copy of today's Bulletin.

As the central figure in the city's greatest manhunt, several eagerly-eyed pedestrians nearly ran to ground several times during the morning and afternoon and I had to duck fast.

My apprehensions are simple, but one citizen just missed the $25 reward for my capture by asking the wrong question.

If the greasy-haired gentleman with the wide-brimmed grey hat to match, who stopped me outside the Capitol theatre, had asked the question correctly, he would have been just much richer.

Carrying a copy of the Bulletin, I was correctly, he wanted to know if I was "The Mystery Man."

Winnipeg's Flood Waters Receding

Even More Rapid Drop Is Expected Within Few Days

By Norman Michie
WINNIPEG, May 22.—(UPI)—The flood-swollen Red River started to drop in earnest today. The indication was its fall will be faster in the next few days—unless there is heavy rain.

At 1:00 p.m. it dropped one-half inch to 39 feet, its lowest point since May 12 when it was still surging to a century-high record of 30.3 feet.

It was the fourth half-inch fall in 22 hours.

"The river at this stage is dropping at a rate of 1 1/2 to two inches a day," said D. M. Stephens, water-level adviser to Brig. R. E. A. Munro, flood-control headquarters in the legislative buildings.

"The rate of fall will increase gradually—barring heavy rainfall."

The three huge lakes formed by the Red in Southern Manitoba and North Dakota are all being drained and sinking in size. The drop is almost uniform all the Red's whole course.

Mr. Stephens confirmed a Canadian Press figure that 100,000 cubic feet, a second—100,000 tons—of mud and muddy Red River water has been subsiding between the two cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man.

He said 4,000 cubic feet a second of the Winnipeg River is being drained from the hundreds of square miles of submerged land south of the city.

Even before Mr. Stephens made these statements in an interview, it was obvious that the Red's swollen crest had passed beyond the Metropolitan area toward the Winnipeg, but the release from the river's death grip would come with surprising alacrity.

LONG WAY TO GO
The army, directing all flood-control operations in the river valley, is earning there is a long way to go before all danger ends. As it goes back it up, the river knuckled one of the three bridges connecting the twin cities, only two men and injured 352 other people, and Provost, reported by a temporary gravel causeway only a few days ago.

Manitoba's deputy minister of resources, D. M. Stephens, said the river can be expected to continue. (Continued on Page 2)

Red River Flood Drops Steadily

To inch its way downward if good weather stays with us.

The forecast for today was favorable, with drying winds and only occasional scattered showers through the Red River valley.

BETTER OUTLOOK

Prime Minister St. Laurent, who flew here yesterday with Justice Minister Garon to check flood damage, said the situation was improved since earlier visits by federal officials. Mr. Garon had inspected the flood in his home province when rain and wind threatened to drive the river beyond the disaster level of 32.5 feet when severe erosion would probably be occasioned.

Louise Bridgman, connecting Winnipeg with the Winnipeg portion of the Red, was closed to all traffic at 3 a.m. today.

Constant pressure of tons of water burst through the concrete Higgins avenue underpass and flooded the subway at the western approach.

LEAVE FLOODED

The army decision to leave the highway flooded. Continued pumping might weaken the walls and dump the CPR track above into the river.

At Emerson, the Red's first Canadian crossing, the railway's first through the northern city.

Some 10,000 homes in Greater Winnipeg are flooded, by Mayor Gordon's estimate. Another 6,000 or more have been abandoned in the valley.

About 100,000 persons, almost one-third of the normal 350,000 population of the prairie's largest city, have left Greater Winnipeg at the army's urging.

Responsible estimates of total damage, including crop loss through flooding, range from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000.

St. Laurent Gets First-Hand View

WINNIPEG, May 22.—(CPI)—Prime Minister St. Laurent made a personal survey of southern Manitoba's flood zone yesterday and expressed belief that western spirit will prevent the flood being a major setback to prosperity.

After a five-hour flight from Ottawa and over the Red River from Grand Forks, N.D., to Lake Winnipeg, 100 miles north, Mr. St. Laurent toured all major districts in Greater Winnipeg.

His remarks at a press conference afterward, contained nothing more than he had already said at Ottawa—that federal aid will be granted on the same principle as that accorded British Columbia after the Fraser Valley floods of 1948.

Flood Relief Fund Nears $1 Million

Radio Extravaganza To Be Carried On National Network

By the Canadian Press

A boiling rip-tide of generosity and goodwill, the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund surged toward its $1,000,000 objective today. A flood of week-end donations swept it further along.

Already, little more than a week for aid for the victims of the Red River disaster, the fund totals an official $747,000. Officials predict it may pass the $1,000,000 mark by tonight.

So eager and widespread has been the response that the official figure may be higher even now. The anxiety of thousands to help their stricken compatriots has caused a welcome clogging of collection and reporting channels.

In addition, many donations are sent direct to Winnipeg and reported there as well, in many cases, as in the city of their origin.

CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

Newspapers, radio stations, service clubs, religious agencies, provincial and municipal governments, hundreds of firms and individuals have joined in the gigantic co-operative effort to ease the flood victims' plight.

The donations reported daily in newspapers across the country range from thousands of dollars from commercial firms down to the hard-earned $1 and $2 from delivery boys and school-children.

Of the total reported originally from Winnipeg, contributed by the originating in Manitoba came $490,000. But the full floodside of relief has not yet been reached.

Tag days, benefit performances, newspaper campaigns and other fund-raising methods are still in full blast.

114 STATIONS

The biggest benefit show is being put on by the radio stations in Canada. All 14 CBC stations and some 100 private stations are combining in the greatest radio extravaganza ever staged in Canada.

Margaret Truman, singing daughter of United States president, has been invited to the performance at Toronto May 26, along with many stage, screen and radio stars.

Performer who have consented to appear include George Formby, the British comedian, Fred Warne and his Pennsylvaniaans, and Sir Ernest MacMillan and his 100-piece Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, donated the use of Maple Leaf Gardens for the show, which will run from 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. The CBC and private networks will carry it all 10

After the press conference, Mr. St. Laurent issued a prepared statement regarding the Manitoba flood relief fund—a $100,000,000 campaign for money to replace flood victims' clothing and personal household effects which would not be provided by governments or other agencies.

He said he has "full confidence" in the judgment and capacity of the men running the fund, and that he is sure the fund will "receive the wholehearted support of the Canadian people."

No Reason for Delay

The fact that fire consultant Harold J. Burke of New York has failed to set an examination paper for fire chief candidates in Edmonton is no good reason for postponing the choice of a fire department head any longer.

It is good news that the examination will be held June 5.

There are other fire experts on the continent. And probably a telegram to any large Canadian or American city would secure the text of a perfectly suitable examination within a few days.

A total of 75 candidates for the post, 30 local and 45 from outside, are waiting for some decision in this matter which has been hanging fire since last November when council agreed to the early appointment of a new chief not more than 45 years of age.

The present situation of the Edmonton fire department is not satisfactory.

The rank and file in the department cannot be expected to give maximum service when leadership is in doubt.

Will The Dean's Friends Prove It?

When the Red Dean of Canterbury travels throughout Canada telling the Canadian people how mistaken they are in their beliefs about Russia, he cannot help but pitifully anxious they are to believe him.

Dr. Hewlett Johnson has devoted most of his Canadian addresses to an attempt to establish these alleged facts:

1. That the Russian people have complete freedom of worship.
2. That they are not immoral.
3. That they have no slave labor camps.
4. That they are not expanding because their boundaries are smaller than they were 14 years ago.

To some extent the Red Dean appears to be answering charges that have never been made.

For example, we have no recollection of hearing the Russians charged with notable immorality nor do we believe the charges are exceptionally immoral.

And, of course, Dr. Johnson is merely playing with words who he can believe the restricted Russian boundaries when it is a matter of common knowledge that Russia dominates most of the huge area of the Balkans.

Service Needed at Whatever Cost

Whether or not the $10,000-a-month cost of extending the Bonnie Doon road by six blocks to bring it around by the CNR station is made up by increased revenue, the rearrangement is necessary because it will bring a needed service to Edmonton people.

Edmonton is one of the chief cities on the main line of the Canadian National Railway.

It does not seem to be compatible with good sense that the transit system does not carry passengers nearer than almost two full blocks from the trains.

Men and women carrying heavy luggage cannot easily negotiate those two blocks.

Refuse Containers for Streets

Few citizens care who supplies the refuse containers for the streets so long as there are enough of them and so long as they are convenient to use.

The present containers are open to criticism on the latter count.

The four openings to receive waste matter are small and open outward. Thus, a person with his or her hands full finds it difficult to open the container.

It should be possible to insert refuse easily with one hand. If this is not made possible, citizens will not use them and they might just as well not be there at all.

Kitty Fisher's Tune Changed From Spice To Respectability

The day before Oscar Hammerstein II left for London to write the production of "Carousel" at the Drury Lane Theatre, we took a stroll in Central Park and near the zoo we stopped to watch a crowd of little girls who were skipping rope and chanting an old nursery rhyme.

"Lucy Lockett, Lucy Lockett, found it, found it, found it."

"If that little girl was called 'Bibbity Bob' I said to my friend professional manner, 'I would probably make the hit parade.'"

"As a matter of fact," said Amy's mother, "my daughter, Bibbity Bob, was called 'Kitty Fisher'."

"Kitty Fisher" was the name of a very popular singer in London. But if the mothers of those kids knew the facts about Miss Fisher, they'd wash their mouths out with soap."

According to Oscar, back in 1914 a heady band of gay by the name of Kitty Fisher had London for the Kismet Report, and before the year was out her list of boy friends included Alvin Karpis, Alvin Karpis, and General Liggett, the King's top soldier.

Pretty, Witty And Wicked

A series of the period wrote her up as "the most pretty, witty, extravagant, wicked little girl I have ever known, whose name was so popular in London."

But if the mothers of those kids knew the facts about Miss Fisher, they'd wash their mouths out with soap."

Letters to the Editor

British Cars

Editor, Bulletin—It seems someone is always taking the joy out of life. Now that British cars have become popular, Otata is reported to be considering the same model in the

U.S. where higher wages prevail.

Automobile lobbyists should be definitely turned down this time and perhaps in the future

by allowing British cars to be at the lower prices demanded by Canadian. They fill a need for afford or will not pay the price for their purpose and most of which are probably 80 per cent empty during 40 per cent of the time.

They are a waste of space and unbalanced expenditure. These vacant spaces are also the cause of congested traffic conditions.

Union Jack

Defended

Editor, Bulletin—Let Canada

have a new flag by all means,

but in spite of everything, the Union Jack is the world's greatest flag because it stands for more than any other flag. Also it evoked the world on the 3rd

September, 1938, at 11 of the clock on Sunday morning that the hour and the day the war was won, which no one can deny,

however much they want to do so.

It is an honor and a privilege to be allowed to fly the Union Jack;

no other flag has flown, or ever will, so proudly.

Civil

Service

Editor, Bulletin—Want a Job?

Yes, you can get one. You can take up to the Civil Service

Commissioner and you get one.

It does not imply that you are needed, or that you will win an office. It does imply that the Alberta Government is trying to help on a big scale, increasing the civil service (more voters)

beyond all precedent, and is trying out huge chunks of the provincial income to maintain it.

You may as well get in on a good thing if you can. After all, what is more delightful than being supported for life by the hard-pressed taxpayers of our provin-

Boa Constrictor Caught In Florida

But Length Only 10 Feet Instead Of Expected 30

JACKSONVILLE, Florida, May 22. — (AP) — Tall stories about a monster living in the depths of a Florida swamp here were not tall tales—they were true.

A 10-foot boa constrictor has been caught by two snake hunters in a swamp four miles from Jacksonville.

But the snake hunters—Ross Allen of a Florida reptile institute and Dr. W. T. Neill, a college professor—were not looking for the 10-foot snake when they made the capture. They were out to run down a rumor—a rumor that has persisted for 30 years. In 1897, a circus train was derailed near Jacksonville and

A 30-foot boa constrictor was said to have escaped. A lot of people have claimed to have seen the snake in the years since the wreck. However, the size of the boa caught by Allen and Neill seems to indicate that the original had young ones. The one caught in the swamp is believed to be a descendant of the snake that escaped in the train wreck. And the snake hunters say they can't be sure that there was only one of the big snakes in the swamp.

Fear Obsession Often Follows Head Injuries

OTTAWA, May 22. — (AP) — Lord Todder, a married doctor says that people who have suffered head injuries can be so obsessed by fear that they often need psychiatric and medical care for years.

Dr. A. C. Kanar of Hamilton, Ont., presenting papers at the surgical session of the Ontario medical convention Saturday, cited numerous cases where long-term mental complications have developed from such injuries.

He added, however, that psychiatric attitudes associated with head injuries and the anxiety neurosis that may develop, Dr. Kanar said that psychiatric treatment before committing a patient to a surgical operation has proven useful.

INDIAN GUIDE LEAVES PUPS IN SUBWAY

NEW YORK, May 22. — (CP) — An Indian guide from Quebec last night was charged with endangering the lives of two puppies by leaving them in a Times Square subway locker for more than 12 hours.

Michael Philippe, 25, of Pointe St. Charles, Que., was held in $500 bail for a hearing today. Philippe, who called himself an Indian guide, said he was passing through New York on his way to visit a brother, Joseph, in Hightstown, N.J.

The black-and-white puppies were found shortly before noon by a subway patrolman who was called to the scene by startled subway passengers who heard howls and whines coming from the locker.

Proper refrigeration of food, particularly leftovers, is an important factor in food poisoning.

ORANGE-YELLOW HUE INDICATES UNBORN BOY

NEW YORK, May 22. — (AP) — Orange-yellow is the color for boys and bluish green for girls in a new method of forecasting the sex of unborn babies.

This discovery, reported yesterday to the International and Fourth American Congress on obstetrics and gynecology, was by doctors Pierre Ross and Aubin E. Fanard of the University of Brussels, Belgium.

They said this is the first test that is certain. They tried it on nearly 50 unborn children without a miss.

The color signs come from the amniotic fluid, a watery substance in which a prenatal child grows and lives, up to the moment of birth. A small sample of the fluid is sneezed, after treatment, on a glass slide. Some of the tissue cells in this smear have natural tints of color. These tints show the sex.

VICTORIA, B.C., May 22. — (CP) — A Supreme Court ruling that drinking in an automobile is legal may be fought at the next session of the legislature, it was reported Saturday.

Mr. Justice H. S. Wood Friday allowed the appeal of a man convicted of drinking in a car outside a dance, ruling that an automobile is not a public place.

Attorney-general Gordon Wismer said Saturday he does not think the public wants drinking in cars on the highway legalized.

He added, however, decision on whether to appeal the judge's decision will not be known until he has studied reasons for the judgment.

Clean-up, Paint-up

Painting curbs is so exciting. What with civic pride your aim. But your aim gets awfully weary. And your back goes awfully lame.

Painting curbs can be a picnic. And the contest like a prize. But the aftermath's not funny. If you get the painter's colic.

Orchids today, loads of 'em, to all our guys and gals who painted the Jasper West centre strip curbing Tuesday. Imperial Oil team gets the best bouquet. They won the contest. CFRN and the Bulletin teams were second and third.

Some wise guy asked me why we didn't get Drew Pearson because Pearson is good at smear campaigns. But I thought our team was real good. We might have done better with a couple of cases of Ale. Then we would have worked like a "well-oiled" machine.

The Imperial Oil bunch won the first prize. The judges thought they looked so nice and neat in those lovely white coveralls, the assuies.

But have the judges investigated that sinister rumor about spray being used by the winners? Those Imperial Oil boys are used to gushers, you know.

Miss Annette Patterson, our queenly Miss Edmonton, "Didn't know the gun wasn't loaded" when she courageously tried to fire the starting gun.

As a result the contest had to be started by a flag-dropping signal.

Slow But Sure

Fred Purkis, Harold Warham and other members of the Glenora Community League team, did a beautiful job. If they had been on union painter scale of pay the whole team could have retired. I think Purkis was still painting when the curfew bell tolled at 10 p.m.

It was funny to see so many persons disguised as honest workmen.

For a while I thought the worst handicap our Bulletin team had was having the best of jobs. But Editor Alex Janusitis proved a tower, (slightly leaning), of strength in the role of curb wiper for we skilled workers.

Flunkers, were members of the Journal team. They failed to put in an appearance when it didn't rain as they had hoped.

And where was my pal Omar Blondahl, officially listed as captain of the CFRN team?

Elegant Elsie came along after the contest and said, "Now I know why they say Things are never as bad as painted."

CFRN worked the 114-115 streets block just east of ours and finished second, a verdict that will always remain a mystery to me. The fact the radio crew had a couple a good-looking girls in the lineup may well be the answer. They probably threw some curves at the judges.

Midnight tonight is deadline for having applications in for The Bulletin's Best Baby Contest. Clip out that application in today's Bulletin and mail it before midnight tonight. You'll find it on page two.

A good goodnight to all and especially to painters.

Flying Ice Wagon Aids In Future Forecasting

Thrusting itself into weather all other aircraft avoid, a specially equipped RCAF North Star today has been sweeping the skyways around Edmonton in a search for forecast clouds.

The huge four-motored plane, with a shark-like fin eight feet high built on top, has been working over the biggest, coldest clouds it can find.

Commercial aircraft are warped away from the area where the experimental plane is given both on account of ice conditions and for fear of collision with the RCAF plane.

The plane flies through heavy cloud layers.

"ICE WAGON"

Knicknamed the "Ice Wagon", the craft carries five crew — from the National Research Council, an air force pilot, and its own captain, ground crew for maintenance while away from its home base at Birch Cliff Air Station, Ottawa.

The craft made the 1,700 mile trip from Ottawa yesterday to meet the low pressure area which swept over Edmonton last week.

These conditions, deadly for ordinary aircraft, were exactly what the "ice wagon" was made for.

Sent out to discover under exactly what conditions icing occurs in various cloud formations the aircraft is also used to test new equipment which may later replace de-icing devices on commercial and military aircraft. This is the purpose of the vertical climb.

For three of the six hours it was in the air on Thursday the red warning light indicating icing on the wings was flashing steadily. Rime ice frosted over the windscreen cutting out all visibility and built up in layer after layer on the leading edges of wings and propellers.

As soon as the warning light ceased, signals the pilot would give the heavy lift, around and built it back into the darker area again while special detection instruments and a battery of eight cameras recorded data for the scientists aboard.

On return to Ottawa the scientists will correlate the data they have discovered in the skies of Alberta. Their find will aid meteorologists in forecasting icing conditions in the future.

No Census To Spare

ADA, Okla. (UPI) — Paul Henderson, district census supervisor, reported one of his worst blunders at a local home, where he was lured away by the resident, who said, "I got out of here, I got no census to spare."

WHAT LOOKS like modernistic building is aircraft with shark-like vertical fin.

Nicknamed "Ice Wagon" it has been flying Edmonton area with national research council scientists to discover under what conditions icing occurs in various cloud formations.

Dr. Newton's Resignation Is Regretted

Resignation of Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta for the past nine years, has been accepted with "sincere regret" by Premier E. C. Manning.

The resignation to take effect at the end of the University term August 31, was submitted Saturday to the premier.

Appointment of a successor to Dr. Newton has not yet been considered said the premier.

"We feel that Dr. Newton has contributed greatly to the welfare and development of the University of Alberta and we appreciate fully the time and effort he has given to the education of the young people of this province," said Mr. Manning.

NOT HASTY

Dr. Newton in his letter of resignation said the decision was not a hasty one but "part of a long-term plan to be free during the later years of his life to study the kind of research in which he has particular interest and in which he felt there is need for full information and clear thinking."

Expressing regret at leaving the institution with which he has been connected since 1939 he said he felt the "joy and the challenge of the constant friendliness and support of you and your colleagues in the provincial government, also the respect you have shown for the autonomy and independence of the University. The institution has furnished under these favorable conditions."

Dr. Newton, 61, will continue to make his home in Edmonton and will devote his time to private writing and the preparation of material which he has planned for some time.

Save Soil Competition Entries Up

Past Contests Paying Off With More Interest Shown

Fourth year of Chamber of Commerce's big "Save the Soil" campaign in Edmonton district promises to be the most successful yet.

The contest has already played a notable part in raising the standards of soil conservation in Strathcona, Stoney Plain, Morleyville and Strathcona municipal districts, and District Agriculturalist R. J. Whitworth, Edmonton.

The farmers who enter the contest each present the two district agriculturalists, Mr. Whitworth and J. M. Fontaine, with the problems they face in conserving soil on their farms.

The two soil experts visit the establishments early in the summer, examine the soil, advise the farmers what conservation measures to take.

Julius takes place in August, during harvest time.

A record of 77 entries have been received this year compared to the 57 in 1949.

Contestants are judged on the basis of seven standards—freedom from weeds and soil erosion, freedom from summer fallow, suitable rotation, yield of grain, freedom from crop diseases and pests, and garden condition.

Points totalling 1,000 are counted, with a score of 850 points the contest and the "grand prize" class.

Winners will be rewarded next March with $500 in prizes when the chamber of commerce holds its annual show course in agriculture.

Since this year's list of entrants with 78 there are 18 from Strathcona, 16 from Morleyville and 14 from Strathcona.

Locks Were Invented By Early Egyptians

Today we shall talk about a little invention which is taken for granted by most people—a lock. When man became civilized enough to own things, he had to protect his possessions. He had to devise some sort of mechanism which only he could open. Before that, a hollow tree, a cave or a hut of branches was his dwelling and the skins of animals protected him from the cold. His food supply was the wild animals and fish and whenever it was in short supply in one district, he could easily move to a new home. There was nothing to steal, as this primitive man had nothing but the skins made by those very men he found to be worse and the crude tools he used for hunting.

MAN IMPROVED

But he moved a step upward and became a herdsman, a shepherd, a farmer or a rude mechanic. He acquired pigs, goats, chickens, cows and tools which became of great value to him. It was then the idea that something must be made to keep these things secure. The first lock was invented. This was probably not more than 5,000 years ago, for the oldest known lock we have of today is almost the early Egyptian. There have been a great improvement in locks during the past hundred years and are now made for almost a hundred different reasons. We have all kinds of car locks, door locks, padlocks, bank locks and many others.

LEATHER LOCKS

At first the Romans and Greeks had very simple ways for protecting their possessions. A leather strap tied in various knots around the handle of a door was the only lock and the knack of unlatching it was the key. Then bars or bolts were used, and we find in old writings how they invented devices for controlling them.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

When Uncle Wiggily and all the rabbit children came home one day from having a picnic on Mud Snot Island in Frog Pond, they all said it was one of the nicest jaunts they had ever had. "But now we're ready for more adventures!" "I know one adventure you can have," said Nurse Jane, smiling at a little behind her paw. "What?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "You can hang the clothes out for me!" Nurse Jane laughed. "I'll wash a big batch this morning and you can hang them out on the grange line!" "Oh, shucks!" said Uncle Wiggily, laughing because he thought Nurse Jane had a real adventure for him. "But I'll do it for you, Miss Furry Wuzzy, and maybe there will be an adventure hiding in the bottom of the clothes basket!" As soon as he finished dinner, Nurse Jane got the basket with the dirty clothes in it and Uncle Wiggily dragged it across the grass to the grange line. He saw a white cat, with a black grapple of hair, he didn't know what to lift it because his rhinoceros. Wiggily and he, before he knew what he was doing, he was hanging the clothes on the line. "Now look at me!" he cried. "I'm hanging the clothes on the line. 'Snoo-hoo-hoo-hoo-hoo!' he started to whistle and all who are ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho who of a sudden he heard a voice from behind a sheet that he was hanging on the line. "Don't look behind this sheet!" the voice exclaimed. "Or you will be eaten!" "Oh, goodness!" Uncle Wiggily whispered. "This is really an ad-tell me more about the cat with the rhinoceros!" the laughter came.

Dinners Tasty In China But Diner Needs Vigor

HOIHOW, Hainan.—(UP)—Chinese dinners are feasts of delicious foods but carry the threat of a terrific hangover.

LIFE OF REILLY

Widowed Hen Likes Grapes, Toenail Polish

MIAMI, Fla.—(UP)—Maggie, a red-haired Rhode Island hen, is a widow, which may explain her eccentric behavior.

Maggie spends her time making grapes, relating to the music of Guy Lombardo and admiring her red-painted toenails. Now that she has reached the toiling old age of five, Maggie even gets treatment of penicillin and liver and iron shots.

The pampered hen is the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shumaker. She is the last of a flock which counts down health department orders the Shumakers to dispose of.

Maggie won her owners' sympathies and freedom from a neck-wrangling when she began to mourn the loss of her husband's proud rooster named Jiggs.

The Shumakers have Maggie the hen of the house. She began eating such unusual foods as grapes and bananas. She became fascinated with the music of Guy Lombardo one day, rooting on an over-stuffed chair near the radio while a disc jockey appropriately played Lombardo's recording of "Enjoy Yourself, It's Later Than You Think."

Now she listens to the radio often when soft music is being played. Mrs. Shumaker said, but struts away when commentators take over.

Maggie got the penicillin shots when she caught pneumonia.

The veterinarian said he had never heard of giving penicillin to a chicken, but he gave her two shots and it killed the pneumonia. Mrs. Shumaker explained, "The liver and iron shots were to build her up."

Mrs. Shumaker said Maggie likes to have her nails polished a bright red.

"She sits and admires them all day," Mrs. Shumaker said.

Bishop Finds City Cramped

LONDON.—(UP)—Home on vacation for the first time in 15 years, Rev. Harry Griffiths and his wife find London a little "cramped" after the vast open spaces of Australia's northern territory.

Grey-haired and wiry, Mr. Griffiths is a bishop of the diocese with a radius of almost 1,000 miles of Australia's toughest country.

As director of the Methodist Inland Mission, he supervises the work of 12 Methodist ministers who cover the white population of the diocese.

They fly their own aircraft, drive trucks and must be highly trained in first aid, dentistry and bushcraft.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths went to Australia 30 years ago, starting their work in a parish roughly at big as half Europe and covering many of their patrols on horseback.

946 Feeble-Minded Sterilized In U.S.

COLUMBUS, O., May 22.—(AP)—Institutions in 27 states sterilized 946 feeble-minded people in 1949 to keep them from passing their defect to their children, a New York physician reported Saturday.

Dr. Fredric Hulse, representative of Hirschfeld, Incorporated, Princeton, N.J., made his statement in report to the 74th annual meeting of the American Association on Mental Deficiency. All such operations are voluntary.

Electricity Off Ration In West Europe Lands

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—Electricity is no longer severely rationed in western European countries, after two years of the Marshall Plan.

The Economic Cooperation Administration said today that more than 400,000,000 in Marshall Plan counterpart funds — foreign currency deposited by Western European Nations, to make $5.4 dollar grants—have helped to increase electrical output to 85 per cent above prewar, boosting industrial production and resulting in a rising standard of living.

Two years ago, prior to the Marshall Plan, there wasn't enough power to meet essential needs in countries which had their dams and generating plants destroyed by bombings. Hundreds of industries lay idle for lack of electrical energy.

Four countries have used counterpart funds for the power program have boosted their electrical output to more than 20 billion kilowatt hours.

The report said that France, which hopes to increase her electrical output to 43 billion kw. by 1953, estimated her current production at 33 billion kw. an increase of 33 billion kw. over prewar.

Nabs Bullet In Teeth But Once Was Enough

By DERRY MORAN

BULLET—The scene of the windowed beach was reminiscent of a paragon execution. Under lowering and dimly lit, a young man stood alone. Thirty paces away stood a single man with a rifle. A group of solemn-faced men huddled behind him, faces edged down by their collars against the bitter wind sweeping in off the sea.

The marksmen took aim, slowly, carefully at the smiling young man some 80 to 70 feet away. A shot rang out and the young man dropped on the sand.

The spectators surged forward, but not before the "victim" began staggering to his feet—with a bullet clenched between his teeth.

He was Hubert Lambert, another Irish magician and father of four, who had defied police displeasure and the pleas of friends and fellow magicians to flit with death in attempting a trick which had already taken the lives of 12 would-be spectators.

Houdini, "king" of magicians, never attempted it.

POLICE TOO LATE

The spectators were British, Irish and Scotch amateur magicians attending the annual convention of the Irish Ring of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, together with several police officers who rushed to the scene in a vain attempt to stop Lambert's "projected suicide."

On the beach fronting the convention headquarters at Bettanstown, Lambert took up his position, with two doctors in attendance.

A spectator pulled a bullet at random from a full box, and marked it with a red wax before handing it on to an Irish army sergeant who had volunteered to "shoot" Lambert.

The marksmen had been brought under escort from their camp that morning, and had never met or spoken with Lambert. However, he had to demonstrate his marksmanship to police by plunging a six-inch plate lead centre at 40 paces.

The marksmen, whose name was withheld on army orders, put the marked round up the beach, and fired along his sights, and fired.

JAWS BRUISED

A split second later Lambert fell back on the sand, clenched between his teeth was a bullet which Maquire and the marksmen identified as the marked round fired from the rifle.

Lambert's jaws were bruised, but the mark was still there. Lambert was offered to prove by police ballistic examination that the bullet between his teeth was the one fired from the rifle.

from the marksmen's rifle, but no one took him up.

Speaking with difficulty later, Lambert said he wasn't sure if he would try it again, mostly, he said, because of his own wife.

"The last thing she said to me when I left home was that she hoped the insurance was paid up to date," he said.

OTHERS DIED

Magicians attending the convention could instance only three men who had performed the trick. One, William Robinson, an American who went under the stage name of Chung Ling, was killed during a performance in London's Woodgreen Empire shortly after World War II.

Another American exponent, Theodore Annemann, died shortly after a performance in New York. The third, a French magician of the early 1800s named Robert Houdin, developed the trick to such a point that the French government sent him to Morocco, then torn by Marabout revolt, as ambassador.

Houdin performed the trick before the native chieftains and convinced them that, since he was "invulnerable," all Frenchmen were "invulnerable."

The Marabouts promptly declared peace.

NOT FOR HOUDINI

Houdini adopted the French artist's name with the addition of an "i," but in all his years of magic and escapism never attempted the bullet stunt.

In what spare moments he can snatch from his newspaper job, his young family and his duties as Irish Ring president, Lambert acts as correspondent for a number of American magazines periodicals in the United States and Canada.

Asked what was in his mind as he waited for the bullet, Lambert replied, "Strangely enough, that new song, 'I didn't know the gun was loaded,' kept running through my head."

Londoners Join In Flood Aid

LONDON, May 22.—(UPI)—Londoners donated more than $10,000 last night in the city's first magazine effort to raise $100,000 for the Manitoba flood relief fund.

"One buck apiece" from Greater London's 10,000 persons was the target of the drive, which was offered to prove by police ballistic examination that the bullet between his teeth was the one fired from the rifle.

Wenke who called Manitoba's need the greatest this country has ever seen, his teeth was the one fired from the rifle.

Legion of Carribbean Dead, But Spirit Stays

By EUGENE S. STAPLES

GUATEMALA CITY.—(UPI)—The

Caribbean Legion, the legendary army which once drilled and pre-broken and almost non-existent.

But the spirit which moved the

'Red Purge' Rocks East Mine Union

UMW President Fires Research Director Wade

GLACE BAY, N.S., May 22.—(UPI)—Scrappy Freeman, president of the Maritime coal miners—today announced the firing of research director C. B. Wade in a Red purge proceeding an officer election.

The chief of the United Mine Workers (CCL) District 28 and John Stewart, discharged miner and former union official, who was the sole challenger of Mr. Jenkins' long rule in next month's contest, is ineligible for any district office.

He declined to elaborate. Mr. Jenkins said Mr. Wade's dismissal was "part of a show-down... for the removal of Communist influence" in the union, which has a membership of 12,000 in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

The powerful Caledonia local called a special gathering to discuss the case and decided to give the matter a full airing at a meeting Wednesday.

Mr. Wade said in a prepared statement he would ask district board members to support his case. The constitution, he said, provided for a tribunal to hear such matters within seven days.

STEWART FIRED

He said the union president had asked him to resign Saturday, and when he refused had told him, "You are fired." Mr. Jenkins refused to give a reason for the dismissal.

Mr. Wade said that his dismissal came less than six weeks after Mr. Jenkins told a union local meeting that "subversive and sinister elements" were trying to gain control of the union.

He said the "Bob Stewart case" was being used by some persons to undermine the district leadership. Stewart, a union local secretary and former UMW sub-district board member, is opponent Mr. Jenkins for the presidency of the CCL-afiliated union in elections slated for June 25.

He was dismissed by Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, a two-months-ago and the Company's action was upheld by coal union vote.

Mr. Jenkins said all provisions of the contract had been "exhausted" in order to gain Stewart's reinstatement.

Those trying to gain control of the union, he said, did not represent the miners.

Irish Threaten Railway Strike Over Dismissal

DUBLIN, Ireland, May 22.—(UPI)—

The railroading union, O'Leary and Kelly, today threatened a nationwide railway strike as a result.

One thousand members of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union protested Keogh's dismissal as a railway fireman. They forwarded to their union headquarters a demand that a seven-day strike notice be served on the Nationalized Railway Authority.

The railway men charged that the Railway Authority had mistreated Keogh's family of seven in laying him off, and had failed to keep an agreement to restate him.

Czechs Report American Negro Gives Up Rights

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 22.—(UPI)—The magazine Czechoslovak Life said today that James M. Robinson, 46, American Negro who turned to his U.S. passport last June, had become a citizen of this country.

The magazine said Robinson "is a citizen of Czechoslovakia, enjoying full and equal civil and economic rights. He is employed as a welder at a Czech factory."

Robinson left his passport at the U.S. consulate here last summer, together with a letter about racial discrimination in the United States. The letter did not say he was giving up his citizenship.

Robinson's former wife, Mrs. Robinson, 34, is a fashion expert. She was married Saturday night to a Czechoslovakian.

Dr. Stauding specializes in internal medicine and is on the staff of a hospital in Prague. He has two children, Jacqueline, 7, and Joe, Jr., 3.

HELP! NATURE

B.C. Indians

Bound Heads

Of Children

VANCOUVER, B.C.—(UPI)—

Down through the ages man has tried many ways to improve the body form with what nature equipped him.

One of the most grotesque methods was head binding as practiced by ancient Indians of the North Pacific coast.

Parents would start changing the shape of their baby's head a few days after birth when the infant's bones were still in the process of formation and could be moulded like wax by continuous pressure. Once imposed, the deformity remained practically unchanged throughout later life.

There were two methods practiced by Indians of the Pacific northwest: the Chinook and Kookimo methods. The former system of head binding was used by tribes living around the Columbia river in the southern portion of the northwest, while the Kookimo method was used farther north in British Columbia and Northern Washington state.

TWO METHODS

The Chinook method worked this way: a pad and light deer-skin bandages were applied to the forehead of the baby as it lay back to its immovable, bowl-shaped cradle. The skull was forced hard against the cradle board in a vice-like grip. This resulted in a flattening of the forehead as the skull slipped sharply away from the eyes and the sides of the head bulged out.

The Kookimo system resulted in the top of the head expanding upward and backward. That was achieved by bandages placed tightly over the frontal sections and around the sides so the brain case was completely encircled with the top of the head uncovered, to allow for its expansion.

The child would also be bound to its cradle in this method.
